PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Ekta Dhawan

Dear Parents,
So the students have come all the way and coming is finally the moment of truth, the day of Exam. At this stage they have studied almost all that they can study to be 100% ready for the big day. They have been planning, revising and studying and so there is little more they can do, right? I believe that when a well-prepared mind engages with a well designed test, fireworks can happen inside our minds. Some of them may have experience of feeling more intellectually stimulated. The mind leaps to new insights and perceptions, makes more connections or approaches to vexing problems. But the students do need to be well prepared to be successful. Be sure success is not gritty only by how much have they prepared for their exam; it's rather how they produce in their exam paper. The way of attempting the questions and procuring the best in the Answer Scripts is the foremost significant exam tip to maximize their performance on the day of the exam.
ALL THE BEST!
