I hope you and your families are healthy and finding some relaxation and joy through the Monsoon season. As you know, we have been working since April on the school's plan for reopening in July for Board exams, subsequently, such plans were shelved by the Government till further notice.

Needless to say, much has changed during that time and much continues to change on a near daily basis. While we clearly recognize change will continue to occur and it may impact our plans, I write today to simply say we remain committed to reopening campus to the fullest extent possible, as per Government directions.

We will hold a series of Zoom/ Jiomeet meetings to discuss specific plans and answer questions prior normalcy, as the terrain continues to shift around us, we will continue to provide updates in context to school buildings opening.

The plan to reopen buildings is undergirded by four guiding principles:

- Health and Safety: Our policies and procedures will be designed for students' and employees' physical and emotional well-being. We will implement layers of safety measures, including the use of masks, symptom reporting, enhanced cleaning, and upgraded ventilation, all of which will be reviewed regularly and modified as conditions warrant and as state and federal guidance dictates.
- Optimized Learning: Our program is centered on rigorous and open inquiry, and we believe that learning occurs best in a social context. Therefore, we are committed to reopening campus and to providing as many students as possible—at any given time—the opportunity to engage in classroom-based instruction. In the case that we need to go fully remote, we will continue to create classroom based experiences for our students.
- Community and Responsibility: We are a school that celebrates community and prioritizes relationships. We will design intentional opportunities for students and adults to interact in a variety of ways. We are also committed to being environmentally sustainable and socially responsible.
- Inclusion and Access: Finally, we understand that the individual circumstances of our students, families and employees are unique. We will do all that we can to provide each member of our community access to our lessons services.
