In case of prolonged stay home scenario leading to on line teaching the think tank of the school is already on the toes. An introspection, preplanning and reinvention traditional structures and practices have been done to rethink the way in which school has already been practicing an organized around time, physical space, educator expertise, curriculum, and instruction; and to redesign school around principles of holistic education laced with innovation and technology, sturdier relations, and healthy child development. The blended learning shall be incorporated with more vigor for every subject. A series of synchronous classes tackle the curriculum as students shall be given explanations using various Microsoft tools such as Microsoft PowerPoint, videos, audios, worksheets etc. This shall be followed by Quizzes and Question and Answer sheets that shall be sent to students on Forms, Quizlet, and other such online tools which they shall be able to solve asynchronously, at their own convenience. This shall addresses the concerns regarding screen time and fatigue. Doubt clearance and recapitulation shall take place both online and offline, during and after classes. Use of tools such as Microsoft Whiteboard, zoom classes, smart classrooms shall give a classroom feel to students as it shall replicate the teacher writing on the chalkboard during explanations as it happens in a physical class. The Assignment shall be prepared and used to the fullest to share worksheets and activities. Younger classes would be engaged in various hands-on activities in which they can engage at home to further their learning. These activities and artwork shall then be recorded and sent to teachers by parents.
